- Quality: Ensuring every detail is meticulously restored, from engine components to interior finishes.
- Customer Satisfaction: Working closely with clients to realize their vision and exceed expectations.
- Sustainability: Restoring rather than replacing to maintain the vehicle's historical value and reduce waste.

The Restoration and Rebuild Process

Restoring a classic car is a complex, multi-phase process that requires expertise, patience, and meticulous attention to detail. Bohenick Classic Automobiles follows a systematic approach to ensure the best possible outcome for each project.

Initial Assessment and Consultation

The journey begins with a comprehensive evaluation of the vehicle. This includes:

- Detailed inspection of the body, chassis, and mechanical components.
- Assessment of rust, corrosion, and structural integrity.
- Evaluation of the interior, electrical systems, and optional features.
- Consultation with the owner to understand their goals, preferences, and budget.

This phase helps establish a restoration plan tailored to the specific vehicle and client needs.

Disassembly and Documentation

Once the assessment is complete, the vehicle is carefully disassembled. Bohenick's team documents each component to ensure accurate reassembly later on. This step also involves:

- Cataloging and photographing parts.
- Identifying parts that need restoration, repair, or replacement.
- Sorting components for different restoration phases.

Restoration and Repair Phase

This is the core of the process, where skilled artisans work on:

- Bodywork: Removing rust, repairing dents, and restoring the original sheet metal.
- Painting: Applying authentic color coats, primer, and clear finishes, often matching original factory specifications.
- Mechanical Restoration: Rebuilding engines, transmissions, and suspension systems with original or period-correct parts.
- Electrical Systems: Rewiring with authentic wiring harnesses to ensure reliability without compromising originality.
- Interior Restoration: Reupholstering seats, restoring dashboards, and sourcing period-appropriate materials.
- Chrome and Trim: Polishing, replating, or replacing trim pieces to match factory standards.

Reassembly and Final Touches

After all components are restored, the vehicle is carefully reassembled. During this stage, attention is paid to:

- Ensuring all systems function correctly.
- Correctly aligning panels and fittings.
- Applying finishing touches and detailed inspections.

This phase often involves test drives, adjustments, and final detailing to ensure the vehicle looks and drives as it did when new.
